Description Describe what you have experienced during the process of SL, what have you conducted for your SL?	Based on my experience, I have made research on part of the partial intestacy topic. It was a good experience to me and my groupmates. At first, it was quite a ride to all of us where the first stage was to find a lawyer for our interview session and we did manage to find one who is Mr Yee. He is knowledgeable and an expert for our particular topic. On top of that, he taught us how this particular issue of partial intestacy could occur in the real practice of life which to us that specific illustration is very helpful in order to proceed with the next stages at the same time to understand the concept completely. Nonetheless, we were quite new to the topic which somehow during the interview session we seemed to be a little bit off, but we managed to get through. Plus, we had made a survey for the purpose of knowing the awareness of our people about the partial intestacy. Also, we planned our promotion, we spread them in order to increase the engagement during the online presentation. We invited Mr Nakhaie, a well experienced lawyer, who had practiced sufficiently for many years in regard to our specific topic. We were glad that he able to join us, and providing the input which is very beneficial to us and all of the audience during the online presentation via Facebook. In my point of view, this service learning, E-Sulam resulted to many advantages regardless of knowledge about the topic also with good networking practice and communication skills among the groupmates. As far as it is concerned, this task can be considered as hectic but I am aware that, it leads to many benefits.
Feelings Write your feelings, emotions and thoughts pertaining to those experiences and activities, how do you feel towards SL?	Based on my feelings, at first I was a little bit devastated with my performance during the interview session with Mr Yee. However, I took it as an anchor for me to work harder upon the next stages. As process goes on, me and my groupmates seemed to be more comfortable with our task, high confidence level with good preparation of knowledge in order to be ready for the online presentation via Facebook with Mr Nakhaie. In addition, it seems to me that this particular task able to sharpen up my skills thus I am delighted to be a part of E-Sulam because to me it is very usefule to all of us, before entering the real legal field in the future. I was very happy same goes to my friends, after we finished with our presentation session as we had done our best during the session. All of us were very cooperative too.
Evaluation and Analysis Evaluate and analyse your own strengths and weaknesses that you can identify throughout the process of SL, your perceptions towards yourself in relation to SL, whether SL can help you to enhance your own potential, how does SL benefits you, how did you handle the problems or challenges that you faced during SL.	In accordance to my strength, I feel like I am an amazing student with a solid knowledge about my topic which is partial intestacy. However, I think I was not at my best during the presentation but still I feel like pulled it off better than I would expected. To me my confidence level after the first interview session kept on increasing which gave me the motivation to strive better in the next few stages. Also, my groupmates are very helpful to one another, we had set up a few online meetings in order to ensure that all of us are in the right track for until the end of our service learning. My perception towards myself would be, I can provide good sources of knowledge to my friends, and I am always ready to take advice and to deliver it too. Service learning helped me a lot when it comes to communication skills and also networking. To me these two important aspects are vital, because it is very useful and beneficial to me when I step into the legal field in the upcoming year. At the same time, it really increased my potential to do a better research at the same time improving my skills of presenting and reading. Whenever I faced challenges, it did not stop me from striving further but it only gave me strength to study more and most of the time, me and my groupmates will study together via online platform.

Conclusion and Action Plan Acknowledge what you have learned from your experience and how would you do it differently next time.	In conclusion, this particular E-Sulam is beneficial and brings a lot of advantages to me and to those students as well. If I were to do this E-Sulam again, I would prepare more by doing a deeper discussion and research in regard to our topic. At the same time, I would have promoted our online presentation better, in order to get a larger number of audiences. This is because, this particular issue seldomly occur to those people who failed to list out their will properly. Therefore, I believe the awareness shall be promoted in order for the knowledge to be delivered.

Description Describe what you have experienced during the process of SL, what have you conducted for your SL?	In my understanding that there are 5 stages within the process of service learning in which my group and I have been through in which it comprises of the investigation stage, preparation stage and active live stage or in other words, Facebook Live session. In the first stage, our group had been given a topic on the regulatory framework for cases for partial intestacy through which as our first steps taken in respect of the stage, we've conducted an interview session with one Mr Yee Seu Kai, managing partner of Yee, Nantham, Leong and Partners through which our topic of discussion was in relation to our topic, the legal framework covering the cases of Partial Intestacy. Mr Yee Seu Kai was asked with few questions pertaining to the procedure involved in cases of partial intestacy, the circumstances in which such case occurred and his experience on the topic of partial intestacy. The outcome of such interview session with Mr Yee Seu Kai, had given us valuable insights in the legal framework concerning the cases of partial intestacy. Furthermore, we've conducted a public survey to test the awareness and knowledge of the public in regard of the topic of partial intestacy. In terms of the Distribution Act 1958, it has come to our attention that it can be related to the theory of positivism in the sense of implementation of such act. In relation to our final stage which is the Action stage, we believed that our Facebook Live Event session has proved to be beneficial in the sense that it allows each member of the group to expand their confidence in speaking in front of public via online.
Feelings Write your feelings, emotions and thoughts pertaining to those experiences and activities, how do you feel towards SL?	My thoughts on the execution of the service learning, it has been very beneficial not just for my group and I but as for others as well as we've been exposed to more in-depth knowledge regarding our topic in the sense of positivism. It also allows us to create a form of networking with few experienced legal practitioners that can be good for our future career.
Evaluation and Analysis Evaluate and analyse your own strengths and weaknesses that you can identify throughout the process of SL, your perceptions towards yourself in relation to SL, whether SL can help you to enhance your own potential, how does SL benefits you, how did you handle the problems or challenges that you faced during SL.	In terms of the evaluation and analysis on my strength in respect of the process involved in service learning, the latter allowed me to enhance our people skills as well as my verbal abilities especially in speaking in front of large viewers. As for weaknesses, I believed that I may should work better on my facial expression during the Facebook Live stage. It has come to my attention that the process involved in service learning helps me to improve my research and critical analysis skills as a law student and future legal practitioner. The 3 stages of Service Learning are beneficial in the sense that it assists in developing our communication skills as a group, further enhance the creative problem skills. The discussion on the topic of partial intestacy depends on the social facts or in other word, it is a part of legal rule that one must be expected to follow.
Conclusion and Action Plan	As the result of the 3 stages conducted in the process of service learning, my knowledge on the topic of partial intestacy has increased due to number of hours spent in every stage. As a result of the interview session conducted with Mr Yee Seu Kai and Mr Nakhaie Bin Ishak

Acknowledge what you have learned from your experience and how would you do it differently next time.	partner of J.Lee & Associates, I've been exposed to numerous important aspects of the topic of partial intestacy in which there's no necessary connection between the law and morality as shown in the practice of partial intestacy. The drawbacks arising from partial intestacy shall occur not because of one's morality but the law contended that such practice shall fall within the scope of partial intestacy governed by Distribution Act 1958.

Description Describe what you have experienced during the process of SL, what have you conducted for your SL?	During the three earlier stages; Investigation, Preparation, and Action that I have conducted, it is fair to say that these stages involved a lot of gathering information. I have been exposed to the information gathering techniques and networking and communication skills especially during the interview session with Mr Yee Seu Kai and the Facebook Live session with our chosen speaker, Mr. Nakhaie Bin Ishak. I also agree on how communication between team members is very important in exchanging ideas and suggestions for all stages. This shows how much online meetings or discussions are necessary to be held despite the pandemic that everyone is facing right now. It is undeniable that the completion of the three earlier stages were tough yet manageable as my group members and I had proper planning to finish the stages within the stipulated time given. I have also experienced the making of website from scratch. Honestly speaking, it was quite a challenge to all of us as none of us are used to using Wix.com but we managed to build a sleek looking website and we are satisfied with how it turned out to be despite having difficulties in making them such as the low internet connection.
Feelings Write your feelings, emotions and thoughts pertaining to those experiences and activities, how do you feel towards SL?	As Service Learning requires more time and effort in completing all three earlier stages, I am most proud of how I managed to get everything done stages by stages despite how time consuming they were. As much as tiring it was, I had fun completing all three stages as I found them to be very beneficial academically as well as for general knowledge. Thinking back over the stages that my group has conducted, what I valued and appreciated most was how Service Learning correlates with the three subjects I have learned during semester which are Law of Succession and Probate, Alternative Dispute Resolution and Jurisprudence . Thus, I am thankful to be given the opportunity to involve in Service Learning as it taught me more than just information on Partial Intestacy but in all aspects from the three subject. Besides, by having all groups sharing their informations on regards to their own topic, I am glad that we could all learn from each other directly and indirectly.
Evaluation and Analysis Evaluate and analyse your own strengths and weaknesses that you can identify throughout the process of SL, your perceptions towards yourself in relation to SL, whether SL can help you to enhance your own potential, how does SL benefits you, how did you handle the problems or challenges that you faced during SL.	Throughout the process of Service Learning, I have always volunteered myself to complete the website for every stages as I enjoyed designing it. However, I still find it hard to execute my exact plans that I have in my mind due to technical issue but I learn best when problems like this emerged as I found myself being able to adapt and improvise in solving the problems. Next, based on feedbacks either from the Facebook Live Feedback Survey or from my fellow viewers, I was told that I did a good job in delivering the informations and convincing the viewers. As for weaknesses, I believe that I should be better in controlling my stage fright and to be able to communicate more during interviews or live sessions rather than just asking questions mainly during the interview and FB Live session. Personally, process of Service Learning benefits me in working as a team player, solving technical problems, communicating and networking with not only to fellow students but outsiders as well. It is fair to say that Service Learning is very beneficial especially for all final year students to have a grasp on particular topics before being exposed to the real life practice.

Conclusion and Action Plan Acknowledge what you have learned from your experience and how would you do it differently next time.	Besides the knowledge gained on the topic of Partial Intestacy from perspectives of two lawyers, I have also gained so much communicating and networking experience from the all three stages especially during the survey, interview session and live session that were conducted online. The most important take from Service Learning is on how the execution of every stages were done despite not being able to conduct this physically. Something I would like to find out more from the topic given is on the procedural part on how Partial Intestacy is handle in court. Therefore, in future I would like to gain more knowledge not only on the surface of the topic but to know it deeper as well as to work more on ways to avoid technical difficulties that could occurred during any stages.

Description Describe what you have experienced during the process of SL, what have you conducted for your SL?	As the COVID-19 pandemic moves towards its peak in Malaysia, we have no choice to conduct E-Sulam in different way than the traditional learning. There are several phases in conducting the project. The first stage concerns research on the topic of Regulatory Framework for cases of partial intestacy. We conducted a study through online resources and also interviewed Mr Yee Sua Kai who is a practising lawyer that has more than 20 years of experience in cases on succession matters including our topic. Other than interview, we also conducted a public survey concerning the awareness and knowledge of application of partial intestacy. After analysing the respond, I can infer that majority not fully understand the law for partial intestacy. The findings indicate that the majority failed to identify the relevant statutes. To relate with Jurisprudence, we can infer that the government using the top down approach under Positivism for people to obey Distribution Act formulated by them in the application of partial intestacy. In this stage, I be able to experience to create a website using Wix as our e-portfolio platform. Next, we were given two weeks to plan our FB Live on stage 3 for the second stages. We as a group divide the works accordingly and I have been tasked to create a poster and brochure. While creating the brochure, I believe that I found myself to understand the topic better compared to the first stage. The day of the event came after the end of our second stages. There are several things that we have to prepare hence countless virtual meetings and rehearsal have been conducted to ensure that our FB-Live went smoothly. In our live session, we as group believe that everyone shall have the experience of being a moderator therefore there are three stages and I was chosen to be the moderator for the third stages which are the game session.
Feelings Write your feelings, emotions and thoughts pertaining to those experiences and activities, how do you feel towards SL?	Frankly speaking, I can say it was difficult because every stage has its own challenges. In step one for instance, we had a hard time searching for lawyers. Despite the challenges, however, our group be able to make a comprehensive discussion in order to obtain a better understanding of our topic and to prepare to give the best to our viewers. Therefore, I am very thankful to have a very hardworking group mates. I find myself grateful because even the project is carried out virtually, all of my group mates gave their best without any excuses. If I can describes my group mates in three words, they are intelligent, hardworking and passionate.
Evaluation and Analysis Evaluate and analyse your own strengths and weaknesses that you can identify throughout the process of SL, your perceptions towards yourself in relation to SL, whether SL can help you to enhance your own potential, how does SL benefits you, how did you handle the problems	Throughout the whole process, I believe one of my strength is I am a very organized person. I love to keep track on my to-do-list every day. I can say this strength really helps me to complete my work within the time stipulated especially the deadline for every stages of E-Sulam project. The new strength that I discovered during E-Sulam project is I am dedicated and committed to my work. I personally have zero knowledge and never even heard the word of partial intestacy itself when I received the topic for the first time. But in order to obtain knowledge and also give the best to the public, I found myself study the topic by myself from words to words. While, as for the weakness, I believe I have issues concerning my soft skills particularly when interacting with other peoples. However, I think E-Sulam really helps to improve my soft skills during the first stage for instance the interaction during the interview with Mr Yee and also in third stages, be the moderator for the game session. I personally believe soft sills are very important in or challenges that you faced during SL.	relation to Alternative Dispute Resolution , therefore E-Sulam project really helps me to overcome my issues for my future.

Conclusion and Action Plan Acknowledge what you have learned from your experience and how would you do it differently next time.	In conclusion, I believe I have learnt a lot during every step of the process. Throughout the whole process, I have acquired a lot of information on these topic and also other topics under Law of Probate from the other groups. Moreover, each process really allows me come out from my comfort zones. I believe E-Sulam project really helps to improve my soft skills and my self-confidence as well. Overall, I really enjoy the experiences during the process of E-Sulam Project.

Description Describe what you have experienced during the process of SL, what have you conducted for your SL?	Throughout the process of Service Learning, I had many meetings among the group members to discuss the topic assigned for us, how to conduct the service learning and many other things. For the first stage, which is the investigation part, I have done some research to study more on our topic which is Regulatory Framework on Partial Intestacy as we were assigned to produce one question each person to be asked to the lawyer during our interview with the lawyer. After finishing with the interview, I was volunteered to do a part of a short report which is an analysis part that was needed to be prepared for this stage. Later, for the second stage which is the preparation part, I was volunteered to be editor of the Raising Awareness: Succession and Probate facebook page. I created a facebook live event as we were needed to conduct our service learning via facebook live. Besides that, I also volunteered to do several posters to be posted on our facebook event page and posted those posters to the page to promote our facebook event live. While waiting for the day of our Facebook live, I had many meetings with my other group members to discuss the event flow of the live and other things. We also had many rehearsals together to ensure that our facebook live will go smoothly. For the last stage which is the action part, I volunteered to conduct the third session of the facebook live event which is the Quiz Session together with my partner, Nadhirah. Due to that, I had prepared six questions regarding our topic. On the live day, we conducted the quiz session by asking the audiences to answer our quiz for almost 15 minutes. After that, we discussed the correct answer with the audiences and later, we announced the top three winners for the Quiz Session. After we finished our facebook live, I contacted the top three winners to deliver their presents.
Feelings Write your feelings, emotions and thoughts pertaining to those experiences and activities, how do you feel towards SL?	Honestly, I feel so happy and proud of myself and my group members because I can see how matured we are in handling all the problems that we faced and how supportive we are towards each other in conducting the service learning. We faced several problems throughout the service learning but we managed to solve the problems together. I am proud of myself because I believe I have done the best for the service learning despite the internet connection problem and deadlines for submission of assignments, I still managed to join the meetings, finish my assigned tasks and conduct the facebook live session smoothly. I am very glad to do the service learning because I learnt a lot of things throughout the process of service learning especially the topic we were assigned to and I was able to share what I learnt with other people.
Evaluation and Analysis Evaluate and analyse your own strengths and weaknesses that you can identify throughout the	Throughout the process of service learning, I found that I have no confidence to voice out my opinion during the meetings and the time we want to solve problems because I think my opinion is not needed in the discussions since all of my group members are so clever. I felt so small to be in the group with those clever people. However, I managed to overcome my weakness throughout the process of service learning. My group members were satisfied with

process of SL, your perceptions towards yourself in relation to SL, whether SL can help you to enhance your own potential, how does SL benefits you, how did you handle the problems or challenges that you faced during SL.	my opinions and took them into account to solve the problems we faced. Besides that, I also discovered a strength throughout the process of service learning which is I found that I can finish up tasks assigned to me really fast. For example, I volunteered to prepare some posters to promote our facebook live event. I managed to prepare those posters two weeks before the days we chose to post them despite the assignments that also needed to be submitted during those weeks and other house chores. I found that I do not like to delay work and if possible, to finish the tasks on the day they were assigned to me. My perception towards myself in relation to the service learning is I have the ability to entertain people by the way I talk such as during the waiting time for the audiences enter our quiz platform, I managed to avoid awkwardness during that time by encouraging the audiences to answer the quiz. Besides that, I see that I am not afraid to ask anything that I do not understand, especially anything related to our topic in order to increase my understanding on this topic. I am so glad to say that the service learning has enhanced my potential and improved my weakness. As I said before, I found that I do not like to delay work, I managed to entertain and encourage audiences to join our quiz and managed to overcome my weakness to speak out my opinion. By doing the service learning, I can learn a lot especially about our topic from the view of legal practitioners. I am so glad to do the interviews with the lawyers because I can learn something that the book did not teach me and get advice from the legal practitioners. Besides that, by doing service learning, I can enhance my potential, soft skills that are very needed to work after I graduate and overcome my weakness. I handled my problems that I faced during the service learning by discussing with group members, doing some research and asking for anyone's help.
Conclusion and Action Plan Acknowledge what you have learned from your experience and how would you do it differently next time.	Based on my experience conducting the service learning, I learnt that I have to be confident with myself. I should stop thinking negatively because I will not get anything if I keep thinking negatively and try to improve myself instead. Besides that, I also learnt a lot about partial intestacy during the service learning. I found that partial intestacy is not something that is alien to us because it happens due to the lack of knowledge on this matter. I am so glad to do the service learning on this topic because we can share some knowledge on this matter to the public. I also learnt that the solution for residuary estate in partial intestacy is the law of intestate. The distribution of the residuary estate will be done in accordance with Section 6 of the Distribution Act 1958. I believe such law was influenced by sociology theory because as we can see the law of intestate gives priority to immediate family such as wife, parents and issue to get the residuary estate of the testator. This is because these categories of family members are the closest one to the deceased and I am sure they have every right to get the residuary estate of the testator. According to Roscoe Pound, there are two components into its definition of law which are law is a means of alleviating conflict through the imposition of organized force and law functions to secure the realization of as many individual interests as possible. I believe the solution to the partial intestacy case where it will be referred to law of intestate is made based on the second definition of law in sociology theory which is that laws function to secure the realization of as many individual interests as possible because as a normal person, I believe many people want to give their properties to their immediate family members when they die. Maybe there are some individuals that want to give their property to other than their family member, however back to the definition of law under sociology theory it functions to fulfill as many individuals' interest as possible. Thus, I believe that the reason for not having specific law on partial intestacy is because it is better to apply law of intestate to the case of partial intestacy as many people would agree that the residuary estate to be distributed to the immediate family members of the testator. If I have a chance to do the service learning again, I would like to do it physically and virtually. I would like to conduct some talks with the public to spread awareness on partial intestacy because by delivering the

	knowledge face to face, it is more challenging and I can have a different kind of experience in sharing knowledge.

Description Describe what you have experienced during the process of SL, what have you conducted for your SL?	During all four stages of SL, I managed to have different experiences for each stage. For the first stage, I was one of the persons whom in charge to create and handle the website. We choose the suitable template so that the flow of the information can be structured clearly. Though I am not really good in IT, but we managed to create a decent website. We then produced suitable questions for the survey and also for the interview. Despite our topic has a small scope and a rare topic, we still able to pull it off. The results showed that layman does not know at all about partial intestacy. I experienced new thing as I never talked before to lawyer directly for a discussion of law topic. At the interview, Mr. Yee keep on adding examples and even ask question back to us to help us understand it better. We arranged the contents in the website and succeeded in producing our short report. Same goes to second and third stage, we discussed to choose a speaker for our live event and also meeting to distribute the workload as preparation for live event. I decided to choose the remaining work since I think it is better for me to let my groupmate choose any work that they are good at so that it will be smooth. I made a brochure and others made other materials for promoting our live event. After discussing about the promotion of the live event and conducted it, the work left for me is to handle with the system for the live streaming myself. I studied on how to do a live streaming as I never did it before. My teammates agreed to make several attempts of livestreaming to let it be smooth. We have done a lot of rehearsals and a day before the event, we called the speaker. I explained to him the flow of our event on how to use the streaming site, what he should do and others. I need to control the streaming throughout the live event but at the same time becomes the moderator. Everyone prepared nicely and thoroughly for the event especially internet connection. During the live, we make sure to include the question related to jurisprudence too. Though I feel a little bit disappointed in myself as I think I should have done it better, but everyone shows a great supported me. Lastly, each of us responsible in supervising back all information and documents presented in the website so that it was done correctly for all stages.
Feelings Write your feelings, emotions and thoughts pertaining to those experiences and activities, how do you feel towards SL?	As those experiences above, firstly I am very excited in creating a website as our e-portfolio because I am not that good in designing but at the same time, I was happy to do it. Then, I am so glad to be able to experience making a survey question for the first time in my life. I was so satisfied that we managed to complete it despite we faced difficulties in making the suitable questions. I am so happy that everyone compromised with each other in distributing the work for the report and survey. Before the interview with the lawyer, I feel so nervous since we will be asking him the questions directly. Thanks to everyone hard work, we managed to end the interview nicely. We are very worried for the live event and we try everything we could so that no problem will arise. It surprised me that I had to handle the live since it is such a big role but after few attempts doing it and learning it, I feel joyed and excited. It felt so nice and I am so thankful that we could make our live event go smoothly more than we expected as there was unexpected situation we encountered. In my thought as to the experiences, I can say that it was a very valuable experience for me.

Evaluation and Analysis Evaluate and analyse your own strengths and weaknesses that you can identify throughout the process of SL, your perceptions towards yourself in relation to SL, whether SL can help you to enhance your own potential, how does SL benefits you, how did you handle the problems or challenges that you faced during SL.	Firstly, I found out that I have a strength in giving the ideas. I think I was able to support everyone ideas so that it can comes into the same transaction. As everyone has their own opinion, usually certain will give up on their idea but I think I am able to suggest a way that can include everyone's ideas. Also, when there is confusion on something that my groupmate faced with their task, I can help them to do it or showing them how to do it. I think everyone's leadership skill improve because even though we do not have leader, everyone negotiated with each other nicely. I also managed to improve my skills on editing, promoting and others. My weakness is on interacting with public because I am a very shy person but because of this process, I need to be braver and interact more with public in media social so that I could promote my event. However, I still does not have a lot of connection so that why I need to socialise more with people. Other than that, I think I am very good in this because I do not like to become burden to anyone, so I always try my best to produce a better result. I realised that I need to improve my communication skill especially speaking in front of many people because I may have potential to interact well with people, so SL did enhance in that part. I found that there are so many things that I can do it I work on it. SL benefits me the most in term of learning probate. After watching the live events of all 20 groups, I learnt a lot about probate and succession matters. These knowledges definitely help not only me, but public at large. I realised that it is very important to educate public regarding this so that they would not make any mistake in handling their matters relating to succession and probate. As my topic involved law to non-Muslim, I found not many are interested in our topic, but we managed to persuaded people to come by giving brochure beforehand and conduct a quiz session to boost the interaction. As partial intestacy follows law of intestacy, I was able to grasp also in-depth regarding procedures to intestacy matters. Also, there is jurisprudence aspect that we can see here which is the positive law. By the implementation of Distribution Act 1958 to govern intestacy, a lot of matter can be resolve and issues regarding property that was not disposed in the will also can be settled properly. Among the challenges that I faced was mostly related to ideas to arrange our information and the constrains of time. Since this process happened together with assignments given by lecturers, I found that it is quite difficult to discuss if the free time of each person was not matched. Despite all of that, I do not think that it is problem at all since I think we organised the time and work perfectly. It was quite challenging to produce suitable questions for the survey as our topic has a small scope. However, I learnt and study about partial intestacy as far as I could. As we do not experience it in real world yet, but our speaker definitely helps a lot to make us understood its application more. Also, it was quite challenging as I need to study on how to do a live streaming as I never did it before.
Conclusion and Action Plan Acknowledge what you have learned from your experience and how would you do it differently next time.	In conclusion, I clearly saw the importance of SL. As law student, we need to have not only law knowledge, but also why such knowledge is needed and what skills needed. I learned probate matters, its importance, and different opinions from different speakers in another group live event. Along the process, I enhanced certain skill and experienced new things and many feelings. To be able to communicate with lawyer was definitely the best part and now I know why ADR is important. Having skill on how to negotiate with others and how to solve problem in an organised way was significant. It is also important to have a great teamwork. If I have a chance to do it differently next time, I hope I could try to do other's work such as contacting the lawyer myself, becoming the moderators for other session and promoting our event harder. Even though we faced quite difficulties as there are so many things that we are confused at the early stages, but we manage to handle it and everything went well.
